

Wild Monkeys Childcare Ltd Local Offer

1. How does the setting know if children need extra help and what should a parent do if they think their child may have special educational needs?

- Each child has a key person. Their role is to develop trusting, sensitive relationships with parents and children, to enable respectful sharing of information. If you have any concerns about your child's development, please ask for a time when you can discuss this in private with your child's key person. If your child's key person has identified a possible individual need, they will discuss the matter with you in private. They will then make a plan together with you, to support your child's learning and development.
- The setting's trained SENCO (Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator) is Valerie Wild, who can offer advice and support to the key person and other practitioners, as well as maintain the setting's SEN policy which is available in the setting. The SENCO will liaise with other professionals to seek advice and support in identifying individual needs, if necessary.
- Support and advice from the Area SENCO can be sought with parents' permission.
- Reports from health care professionals such as health visitors and speech and language therapists identify children's individual needs. The setting welcomes parents and professionals sharing these reports with them in order to plan appropriately to meet individual needs.
- On-going observational assessments and 27 month checks are made of all children and linked to the EYFS Development Matters ages and stages of development. This can in some cases identify individual needs. These observations will be discussed with the setting manager.

2. How will the early years setting staff support my child?

- On induction to the setting the SENCO and parents share information about the strengths and needs of the child
- Parents have the opportunity to accompany their child on visits to help settle the child and develop relationships with the key person
- The child will always be at the heart of all we do
- We will work with the parents and support the child together
- Observations, assessments, planning all contribute to the learning journey
- We will listen to you as well as your child
- The SENCO/manager will explain how children's individual needs can be met by planning support using a Learning Journey and advice from the Area SENCO. She will also explain who may be involved in any support and discuss their roles.
- Key person to oversee the Learning Journey targets
- Key person to be in sessions with the child. If not, then the SENCO/manager will be present. They identify individual needs and plan next steps, accessing additional support from others where necessary e.g. Speech and Language Therapist (SALT) or applications for additional funding (IF2)
- Partnership working with parents, e.g. reviewing learning journey targets and planning new ones together
- Key person role will foster relationship with and understanding of the child
- Manager and deputy manager will maintain an overview of the experiences and progress of the child
- SENCO will work with other practitioners to ensure provision is relevant/appropriate and will seek support where necessary
- The SENCO will create support within the environment, such as the use of a visual timetable to support the child in understanding the routine
- The majority of staff have completed a Level 2 Understanding Autism course

3. How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

- Staff get to know the child before entry to the setting through meeting with parents and any other professionals involved
- There are regular key person liaisons with parents
- On-going observational assessment is used to establish a starting point for the child within the first few weeks. This continues to inform the next steps of their learning and development upon starting the setting, linked to the ages and stages of Development Matters in the EYFS
- Targets are set in the Learning Journey, if necessary, to support the learning and development of the child
- The SENCO/manager will ask parents for copies of any assessments made by professionals prior to starting the setting
- Advice from the Area SENCO could be sought with parents' permission and if necessary
- The setting ethos and EYFS requirements are to treat each child/family as individuals
- The SENCO and key person's responsibility is to ensure the environment, routines and activities support individual needs
- The SENCO and key person communicate with the rest of the staff to provide consistency and to develop an understanding within the team
- All staff are supported by SENCO and key person to ensure that all resources are accessible and offer appropriate learning opportunities for all children
- Observational assessment and Learning Journey reviews will enable planning for individual needs and preferences
- Activities, experiences, routines resources and provision planned for the individual
- Robust risk assessments are in place to enable children to participate as fully as possible
- We work with other professionals to meet on-going needs

10. How will the setting prepare and support my child to join the setting, transfer to a new setting or the next stage of education and life?

Joining the setting:

- A key person is assigned to the child and the key person role is explained to the parents
- At sign-up, we discuss with the parents how best to settle a child, e.g. length of sessions, parental guidance etc
- Parents are invited to stay and play sessions before starting
- There are parent/setting meetings with questions to get to know the child and family. We ask parents to share their child's needs and any involvement of other agencies
- SENCO/key person will meet with other professionals e.g. health care professionals to put in place transition planning/health care plan
- The SENCO will facilitate any staff training necessary before the child starts
- The SENCO will ensure that any relevant documentation is shared with staff if necessary, e.g. About Me forms, previous Learning Journeys and pediatric reports, to ensure that appropriate planning is in place
- We can work with the parents to create transition bags/boxes containing favourite/special books, toys and family photos. The key person can also share their special things to support building relationships
- The manager will agree with parents a consistent approach to ensure continuity of care from home to setting
- Sharing of Early Support Family File

Transition to school or next setting

- Invite new key person and SENCO to observe the child and discuss the child's strengths and needs
- SENCO/key person can visit the new setting with parents and child and key person and advise on any adaptations to routine/provision
- Attend meetings e.g. team around the child
- Key worker to share transition sack/book from new setting/school
- Hold transition review/meetings at parents' convenience, plan transition for the child with sufficient time for the receiving setting/school to make necessary plans for effective transition
- Share successful strategies and less effective strategies with receiving setting/school in partnership with parents
- Share targets in learning journey and minutes of review meetings
- Include child's view/feelings through photographs – done, achieved, enjoyed
- Documentation passed onto receiving setting to include tracking, learning journey
- New staff invited to meetings
- Create a photo book of the new setting/school that the child can share with parents/key person on a regular basis before the move

- Delegated budget will be used to provide certain resources, e.g. a visual time table
- Working alongside other professionals for supportive activities and experiences
- Adaptations to existing resources

12. How is the decision made about what type and how much support my child will receive?

- Through observations made by the key person of the child in the setting and in discussion with the parents and SENCO/manager
- Observational assessment is linked to the EYFS and knowledge of child development will be used to identify what support is required
- Extra support will be put in place if necessary, with the aim of enabling the child to become independent within the environment.
- On-going partnership working with parents by the setting and other professionals involved with the child/family will support the decision making process.
- The SENCO will give advice on meeting the child's needs within the setting in consultation with parents and other professionals where necessary and with parents' permission.
- The SENCO will advise on the process of applying for extra support.
- The inclusion funding process will identify level of need based on the evidence submitted to the panel from the setting and other professionals working with the child/family.
- Reports from health care professionals or others working with the child and family will be used plan support within the setting
- The Area SENCO or other professionals working with the setting SENCO will support the decision making process linked to planned targets in the Learning Journey. The Learning Journey will be written with parents and will include how parents can support their child at home.
- Staff meetings within the setting will ensure all staff working with the child know the child's needs and how to support them.

13. How are parents involved in the setting? How can I be involved?

- Parents are involved from the initial visits to register their child at the setting. The child's strengths, needs, likes and dislikes are discussed at this point. Parents are encouraged to share information at this point and on an on-going basis, about individual needs of their child and any agencies/professionals involved with the child/family.
- Parents are involved in identifying needs, information sharing, identifying targets/next steps to focus on at home and in the setting and reviewing progress towards targets. Parental permission is sought before liaising with outside agencies.
- Parents' knowledge of their child is important and partnership working is sought at every point including Individual Learning and Provision Plans and reviews.
- Children's Learning Journeys are accessible to parents within the setting or via Tapestry
- Parents are able to access information about Makaton; each week a new sign is posted on the setting's Facebook page, and this sign will be focused on during the week
